Treasurer's Report: Charlotte Key

- Charlotte reported the financial activity for the month. As noted in the meeting and in the last newsletter, we will not be publishing the actual numbers associated with her report. The totals will be announced at meetings and members may ask Charlotte for more information at the meetings. This is for the Club's protection.

 Sun Day-in-the-Park Hunts
 Sat Day-in-the-Park Hunts

New Business:

- Tom Boyd discussed the Recovery Team. If interested, please sign up. Tom will create a list and rotate through it as we get requests. After you go out on a recovery, your name goes to the bottom of the list. Each recovery effort will include two club members, who are encouraged to submit the story of their hunt to the newsletter for publication. Tom stated he checks the emails daily.
- The annual hunt is now scheduled. It will be May 11, 2013 at Alta Mesa Gun Club (same as last year). The prize list is growing. If you have suggestions please see George Magann or Al Woltman. Entry fees will be $40 for members ($5 extra on the day of the hunt) and $12 for kids. The May club meeting on the 2nd will be the cut off for the $40 fee so don't be late. Some of the prizes will be gold coins, leche knives, garrett probes, and more. Non-hunting volunteers are needed on the day of the hunt to seed the field.
- Don Dunn continues our "buy from members" program. See him if you have coins to sell. We will need a large number for the annual hunt and the club is paying top dollar.
- Dan Cordes brought in coil covers for no charge if they fit your coil. He also brought in his gear for hunting underwater in the rivers. He gave a short talk on his scuba hunting with the Excalibur II and a concrete block to keep him anchored. Dan, as well as others, often post on our facebook page. Visit it to see who's finding what.

From the Recovery Team

Cynthia told us where she was standing at time of loss. She then pointed out where the ball landed that she threw when ring came off. She also postponed lawn service to prevent lawn mower from sending the ring flying.

Bob and I covered the lawn in the direction of throw, for about an hour with no success. Some friends of Cynthia had come over to watch the process.

While we were standing discussing the lost ring, a friend of Cynthia's looked down on the opposite side of sidewalk from where we were looking and saw the ring sitting in a bush.

There are a couple of valuable lessons learned from this outing.

Lesson #1. Look in all directions from where person was standing when they lost an item. Not just in the direction of a thrown object.

Lesson #2. Do not discriminate lower readings, as ring was made of strands of gold wire, and did not read above a "9" when placed on sidewalk so we could see where it reads.

Cynthia was so happy to find her ring, and gave Bob and I credit for giving her hope, she insisted we take a reward. After resistance, Bob told her if he took any money, he would donate it to the club. So Bob now has $80 for the club.

Search Coil Trails

In the early morning hours late in December we packed our metal detecting equipment in the SUV and headed out to meet at Frontier Park. We were equipped with the tried and true MXT, but our friend who always has the latest and greatest, shows up with a big smile and a new Deus detector. At first sight it looks like a toy, but hidden behind that disguise was a lightweight wireless, powerful, programmable, treasure finding machine.

We strapped on our knee pads and tool belts, and the five of us headed off; looking like some sort of rag tag SWAT team armed with Star Trek looking weapons. After an hour of hunting we gathered around a picnic table to display our treasures and claim bragging rights. I was humbled with the MXT and luck, I thought I did very well with four quarters, six pennies and a pendant watch. Steven did very well with his Tesoro; he found several coins and a very nice gold ring. But the first place prize goes to Ken and his new toy. Fourteen quarters, three nickels, a gold chain and a Rabies tag.

The second half of the hunt, we decided to concentrate on the soccer field area. We all found coins but the area was very trashy and we spent a lot of time digging trash in the muddy soil. We now looked like we spent the night in a homeless camp, muddy search coils and muddy faces. We looked at each other and laughed each of us thinking the others looked funny. A mirror would have brought straight faces to all of us. We packed up our gear and headed home to clean ourselves and the bounty.

Looking forward to the next treasure hunt!
